OWNERS OF BROWNSVILLE BRIDGE MUST OBEY LAW, SAYS SECRETARY M'VEAGH

Structure Must be Torn Down According to Orders of the Supreme Court Which Confirms Lower Body in Their Decision.

COOPER WORKING HARD

Makes Request That Bridge be Allowed to Stand for Time Being in Order that Some Arrangements Can be Made for Disposal.

Admitting that the destruction of the Brownsville bridge would be a great hardship to the people of Brownsville and community, Secretary of the Treasury McVeagh yesterday informed Representative A. F. Cooper of the Fayette, Somerset and Greene district, who is working in behalf of the bridge owners, that the law would have to be complied with. This means that the bridge will have to be razed within a certain time.

When President Taft was Secretary of War the bridge was condemned as an obstruction to navigation. An order was issued that it be raised and the channel span widened. The order was confirmed by the Supreme Court. It cannot be complied with without the destruction of the bridge and erecton of a new one.

Secretary McVeagh will not be unreasonable, however, and though he would make no promise, seemed to intimate that if the owners of the bridge would make some definite proposal he would consider it. If a time can be agreed upon for compliance with the order the bridge may be permitted to stand meanwhile. Otherwise the department will proceed with enforcement. The matter in all its essential aspects is the same as the case of the old Union bridge at Pittsburg, which was razed when order to raise it was issued.

The Brownsville bridge is used daily by large numbers of people as a public crossing. It has stood for many years.

CHARLEROI DEFEATS FAYETTE CITY FIVE

Cononials Add Another Victory to Their Already Long String.

The Colonial Basketball team added another victory to its already long string, when it defeated the Fayette Y. M. C. A. five on the local floor last evening. The game was a good one throughout, although the visitors were outclassed by the fast playing of the Colonials. The score:

| Colonials—45 | | Fayette City—20 |
|---|---|---|
| T. Mangan | F | Hainer |
| E. Riggs | F | Carlson |
| Wilson | C | E. Roy |
| F. Mangan | G | Middleton |
| Oller, Allshouse | G | G. Roy |

Field Goals—T. Mangan, 7; Wilson, 8; F. Mangan, 7; Hainer, 2; Carlson, 2; E. Roy, 2; G. Roy, 1. Goals from fouls—Wilson, 1; Carlson, 5.

Coming to Belle Vernon.

On Monday the Grand Lodge officers of the Knights of Malta of Philadelphia will be at Belle Vernon to confer the past commander's degree upon the past commanders of the valley.

Fayette County Commissioners Pay the Reward

Give $500 to the Captors of B. Frank Smith to Repay Them for Their Efforts.

The county commissioners of Fayette county yesterday paid over the $500 reward offered for the apprehension of B. Frank Smith. M. M. Malone, one of the captors, came to Uniontown with the release signed by all the claimants and the money was turned over.

Mr. Malone stated that he and Lewis Fee will receive $150 and J. I. Malone, S. L. Curtis, C. E. Radcliffe and G. Frankenberry will get $50 each. This was the division agreed upon among the men and is satisfactory to the commissioners.

SERVICES HOLY WEEK

Charleroi Denominations will Specially Observe Solemn Feast Days.

BEGINS ON PALM SUNDAY

In Charleroi as elsewhere throughout the Christianized portions of the world, the most solemn period of the religious year will be observed, beginning next Sunday. Palm Sunday, while itself a joyous feast rather than a day of sorrow, marking as it does the triumphial entry of Christ into Jerusalem, is the opening day of that period known as Holy Week, in which the closing scenes in the life of the Savior, his passion and death are commemorated, to be followed by the feast of Easter, commemorating the most glorious incident in church history, the resurrection of the Lord.

Holy Week is observed particularly in the Catholic, Episcopalian and Lutheran churches. At St. Jerome's Catholic church there will be mass every morning next week. On Maunday Thursday there will be special evening services and on Good Friday, the date on which Christ was crucified, there will be special commemorative masses. Saturday there will be a morning mass leading up to the Easter feast. The blessing of the palms and their distribution will take place on Palm Sunday.

At St. Mary's Episcopal church there will likewise be special services each day next week. Wednesday evening there will be evening prayer and an address by Rev. John R. Pickels of Pittsburg. Maunday Thursday there will be a celebration of the holy communion at 7:30 in the evening. The following day, Good Friday, there will be morning prayer, litany and an address at 10:30, and evening service at 4 o'clock. On Saturday, Easter eve, the sacrament of baptism will be administered at 8 o'clock. On Easter Sunday there will be special services morning and evening, in the evening a prorgam to be given by the children. Leading up to Holy Week, on Friday of this week there will be evening prayer, and litany at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

At Christ Lutheran church there will be special services on Palm Sunday, on Holy Thursday and Good Friday, ending up with the celebration of Easter. All week day services will be held in the evening at 7:30 o'clock.

ONLY TWO MORE DAYS LEFT IN WHICH CONTESTANTS MAY WORK FOR LAST EXTRA SPECIAL BONUS VOTE OFFER

Eleventh Hour Finishes Are Sometimes Sensational, and Indications are That This May be One.

By V. H. Austin.

Two days after today to work on the last bonus vote offer of the contest 5,000 extra votes with every $25.00 turned in on subscriptions. Candidates cannot afford to take things easy for the loss of a minute might mean the defeat of a valuable prize. Not a single prize is nailed down—and no candidate can be sure of winning. The eleventh hour finishes are sometimes sensational—and if you don't intend to work during the week—to get right down to business and stick to it—it will mean defeat—and the loss of time after having spent many weeks in the battle.

GATHERING UP PROMISES.

Many of the candidates are beginning to gather in "the later on" promises. Every candidates needs every vote possible. It is better to have four hundred thousand too many, than to lose by a half dozen votes. The way to win is to keep up your ethusiasm, the enthusiasm of your friends, and to enlist your friends in an active canvass in your behalf.

WARNING TO INDIFFERENT CANDIDATES.

The Mail Publishing company has offered in its popularity contest now on and which will close Saturday night, March 26, ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS' WORTH OF PRIZES, and so distributed them that everybody in this vicinity might have a fair chance to win a reward for faithful services.

These prizes were not hung up as a charity or an act of philanthropy, or a desire to make some one a present of something for nothing. They are offered in exchange for work in behalf of the circulation department of their papers. They have nothing to give away as a gratuity any more than you have. This, as was initially announced, is a business proposition.

And all candidates having less than TWENTY THOUSAND votes to their credit Monday, March 21st, will be taken from the list. THIS IS A FAIR WARNING. SO GET BUSY.

FREDERICK WARD WILL SURRENDER

Comes to Pittsburg to Give Himself Up to the Authorities.

Frederick Ward, the Pittsburg promoter, whose operations in connection with Clifford Drum, cashier, caused the bank of Coal Centre to lose about $60,000, sent word from Pittsburg this week that he would surrender himself in a few days and start on his sentence of a year and six months in the penitentiary.

Drum escaped imprisonment by paying to the bank $40,000. Ward was unable to make restitution, and appealed, but the lower court was sustained. Conspiracy to defraud was the charge made.

ASSESSOR GIVING OUT NOTICES TO PROPERTY OWNERS

Commissioners Will Visit Townships as Well as Larger Boroughs.

Assessor Georg W. Dawson is today distributing the notices for the court of appeals to be held in Charleroi by the county commissioners on March 28 and March 29. Mr. Dawson is finding that some of the persons to whom he notices go, especially among the foreigners, are hard to locate.

Next Tuesday the commissioners will be at Finleyville and will hear appeals for Finleyville, Nottingham, Union and Peters.

Next Wednesday they will be at Monongahela and will hear the property holders of that place and also those of Carroll, Union, Somerset and Fallowfield.

Thursday they will be at Bentleyville and will hear the property holders of that place, Ellsworth, Cokeburg, Somerset and Fallowfield. These will be heard in the morning. In the afternoon they will be at Beallsville and will hear that borough, Deemston, West Pike Run, West Bethlehem and Centerville.

Friday afternoon they will be at Marianna and will hear that borough, West Bethlehem, Deemston and Amwell.

Saturday they will be at Donora and will hear Donora and Carroll.

CHARLEROI MAN WINS HIS SUIT

Court Awards Amount to Cary Piper and W.A. Stroud in Burtnett Estate Case.

The suit of W. A. Stroud of Coal Centre and Cary Piper of Charleroi, against the estate of J. W. Burtnett was concluded at Washington this week, the jury returning a verdict of $7,128.88 in favor of the plaintiffs.

The suit is the outcome of the failure of the People's Bank of California. Messrs. Stroud, Piper and Burtnett were bondsmen in the sum of $20,000 for O. F. Piper, cashier of bank. The latter is alleged to have appropriated $63,000 from the bank, causing its failure. Burtnett had died in the meantime, and Stroud and Piper were compelled to pay the sum demanded in the bond. They then entered suit to require the estate of Burtnett to bear its pro rata share of the bond, and the jury has found a verdict in their favor.

MAGIC CITY QUARTET WILL ACCOMPANY REV. G. G. KERR TONIGHT

Will Render Selections Preceding Famous Lecture at Donora.

The Magic City Male quartet, composed of C. Steel, first tenor; John A. Bowman, second tenor; Louis Jobes, first bass, and Thomas Kendrick, second bass and D. Davis, a Welsh soloist of Charleroi, will accompany Rev. G. G Kerr to Donora tonight where they will assist in an entertainment. Rev. Kerr will give his noted lecture, "The Value of a Boy and How to Get the Worth of of Him." This will be this quartet's first public appearance for concert work. They have sung several times at the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church. It is likely that some Charleroi people will accompany the party.

DANCING SCHOOL.

Prof. Oatman's Dancing School every Tuesday night in the Bank of Charleroi Hall. Beginner's class 8 to 9, social dance 9 to 12, Maxwell Orchestra. Ladies, 25c; gentlemen, 50c. New dances will be taught. 177t6

Inspector Says Local Postoffice Is in Good Shape

H. H. Williams Here Today to Look Over Accounts in Charleroi Office.

Postoffice Inspector H. H. Williams of Greensburg is in Charleroi today making the annual inspection of the Charleroi postoffice. The inspectors is the first one to be made since Mr. McCardle took charge.

In an invterview, Mr. Williams, who is a former newspaper man, said, "The postoffice in Charleroi is in excellent shape and doing a good business. The accounts I find in splendid condition and the internal workings of the office are greatly improved."

Mr. Williams has been making inspections in this territory for several days, and is not quite finished.

LICENSE ALTERED

Board of Health Take Action to Cut Out Objectional Part.

ARE NOW BEING PREPARED

The board of health in a short meeting last night decided to comply with the request of the Fallowfield Milkmen's Association to have the milk dealers license prepared to conform with the application recently agreed upon by a committee from the board of health and the association. The license will be ready for the milkmen to sign in the near future.

The part over which the milkmen objected was "This license is issued in accordance with the Rules and Regulation of the Board of Health and may be revoked at any time for failure to comply therewith." This part will be cut from the license. It is expected there will be no further trouble on the milk question. The board of health was guided in the action by the advice of an attorney.

Athene Club Accepts Invitation.

The Athene Club will hold their regular meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. P. McCloskey on Crest avenue and Sixth street. Mrs. McCloskey extended the club a special invitation to hold the meeting at her home, and it was unanimously accepted.

Illustrated Lecture.

George L. Olney of New York city, who has been in this vicinity for some time giving his illustrated lecture, "The Wayward Boy" at various places will lecture at the Star Theatre, here on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The lecture will be for everybody over 16 years old. Children accompanied by their parents will be admitted. The lecture will be the same that he has been giving elsewhere.

Baptists to Meet.

An attempt to organize a team for the coming season in the church league will be made by the Baptists team tonight, when a meeting will be held at the church at 7:30 o'clock.

WELL KNOWN CHARLEROI MAN IN LINE FOR PART OF LEGACY FROM RELATIVES

Indiana People Inquire of County Treasurer Lane for the Whereabouts of N. C. Brown and His Brother, Cary Brown.

NEWS CAME AS SURPRISE

Local Man Not Expecting Anything of the Sort—Publicity Given Matter Was Responsible for His Being Located in This Locality.

Norman C. Brown of Fallowfield avenue, this morning learned through an unofficial source that he was an heir to a part of a legacy left by a relative who died some time ago in the State of Indiana. Just what portion of the fortune will be his is not known to Mr. Brown, to whom the news came as somewhat of a surprise. Sharing with him the portion of the fortune is his brother, Cary W. Brown of 115 East 8th street, Los Angeles, California, formerly a Washington county man.

The way in which Mr. Brown learned of his good fortune reads like a novel. County Treasurer W. E. Lane at Washington yesterday received a letter from Ranzel Brown, of R. D. 1, Delaware, Indiana, asking for the whereabouts of Norman C. Brown and Cary W. Brown, former residents of this county. Mr. Lane has no knowledge of the men, and handed the matter to the press for information. It appeared in the county seat papers yesterday to be noticed by Dr. J. K. Smith of Charleroi, who called Mr. Brown's attention to the matter this morning in a telephone communcation. Mr. Brown stated that he must be the one. He is employed at Monessen, and at noon today came home to see about the matter. He will get into communcation with the Western authorities and learn more about the matter. He is unaware of the probable amount of the legacy, much less the amount he will receive.

CALIFORNIA EAGLES DEDICATE NEW ROOMS

Held Reception and Banquet Last Night—Charleroi People Present.

The California Aerie of Eagles No. 1881 last eveining held a reception in their new rooms in the Odd Fellows building at that place, dedicating their new rooms. The club recently moved into these quarters, and the social affair was arranged in honor of the occasion. There were a large number present, out of town guests being present from Charleroi, Monongahela, Brownsville and other places.

Ireland's Patron Saint.

A blossoming of green today proclaims the fact that people of Irish extraction are honoring the memory of Ireland's patron saint. Outside of the popularly accepted statement in the song, that "St. Patrick Was a Gentleman," that he is supposed to have banished the snakes and toads from Ireland, and that his memory is observed on March 17, many people are not aware of the significance of the anniversary. In the annals of Christianity, of human liberty and the world's progress generally, St. Patrick occupies a bold and commanding position. This fact alone is ample cause for all the adoration and commemoration that is tendered his memory today throughout the civilized world.

First of all he was an evangelist. In Ireland he found a land of heathens, and he left them a country of Christians. With no aid or support but his own supreme Christian faith and zeal in the work, he entered the land of barbarians and converted them to Christianity. Alone he preached the gospel of Christ, and alone he converted whole kingdoms to the faith baptizing kings and subjects alike at the common altar of the Master. He founded churches, schools and cloisters for both sexes, made just laws and introduced the softening and civilizing influences of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. In addition to this he was zealous for the suppression of human slavery, which under the old Roman and barbaric dominion prevailed at that time.

These are some of the general reason why the name of St. Patrick severed. Although at a different period and under vastly different conditions, his work was but a continuation along the same lines as that of the great Apostle, the founder of Christianity. He was one of the great Christian disciples who blazed the way for all the blessings of civilization that the world enjoys today.

Ought Not to Conflict.

Opposition to the postal savings banks has developed on the part of the bankers and their associations throughout the country. These oppose the institution of the project on the grounds that it will conflict with private interests in banking. They make the clain. that the Government should not go into the banking business, as that is purely a private function.

To the ordinary man it would appear that the two institutions ought not to conflict. The postals savings banks are planned to accommodate small depositors who do not patronize the private banks, partly for the reason that they believe their savings too small for the banks to consider, and partly on account of distrust, for it cannot be denied that many banks go wrong, to the loss of depositors. On the other hand the Government is always responsible, and it is believed that the postal savings banks will attract thousand of depositors who otherwise hoard their money and thus release it for business purposes. The Government in turn will deposit this money in the various banks, so that it may enter business channels.

Postal savings banks work well in other countries. The plan seems to have merit, and if given a fair trial it will probably develop that the two systems will in no wise conflict to the detriment of the one to any appreciable extent.

Raise More Hogs.

With the present high price of pork, it would seem that the logical policy for every farmer in this vicinity as well as elsewhere, would be to start in now to make preparations to raise all the hogs he possibly can, as well as the food products on which to maintain and fatten them for market. The larger the scale on which this policy is carried out, the greater the sum of ready money that can be realized when the hogs are butchered and sold.

It has been fuly demonstrated that the farms of this section can produce enormous crops of corn with a halfway favorable season and intelligent and scientific culture. By producing a big corn crop and then turning it into pork, the way is clear for a good and profitable business enterprise for all farmers throughout the county.

With pork and other farm products at fancy prices some of these unused farms and fields in this section might be made to produce most profitably.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

The only good in some fellow is good for nothing.

One reason why many people are not bad is because they haven't the price.

Some people would stake their religion in a card game, and be glad when they lost.

Roller skating is no crime. It is only made so through the too ardent services of some lawmakers.

Some men are born mean, some achieve meanness, while others have meanness thrust upon them.

If a woman makes a mistake she is just naturally bad, while if a man goes to the dogs he is just "sowing his wild oats."

The way the Charleroi Water company has been jumping rates on some people would indicate that they had nothing else to do.

A Fayette county man was arrested, but not principally because there was a reward offered. It was more as a matter of course.

There is a proposition on foot for the manufacturing of clothing out of rats. It might be a good idea. It also might not be a good idea.

People who have been hoping so ardently for the good old summer time must not forget that it is then that they have to push the lawn mower.

Theodore Roosevelt, despite reports and rumors to the contrary, is still living and in good health. It will take more than rumor to kill him.

Milwaukee is heading a movement for cheaper living. The milliners there have advertised "Ladies hats, as good as anyone cares to wear at $2.00."

In New York city joy riders do not seem to care for other people's lives or their own. Such fellows should be put to whitewashing the cells of the Leavenworth penitentiary.

There's an old saying about three being a crowd, but one of some men we have seen would make the biggest kind of a crowd in a seat of one of the old Piitsburg-Charleroi cars.

Western railroads have asked the Government to aid them in preventing a strike. Probably expect to have the Government have Taft sit on the persons advocating the strike.

Will the fellow who has been writing about the stomach telescope please tell just what he means? We have had the stomach-ache, but never yet suffered from a stomach telescope.

The most interesting pamphlet or book to the average person nowadays is not the Congressional Record, but to the fellow seeking information the Record is sometimes a great help.

Some men want their wives to be allowed to vote, so that they will vote for legislation to reduce the price of hats and other wearing apparel. What does the wife care what her hats cost? She doesn't pay for them.

They have found out that artists go to the pen as well as anyone else. One down in the Western Penitentiary has gained more notoriety since he has been there by one lone painting than he ever got before by all his misdeeds.

Samuel G. Dixon, State Health Commissioner, has written a 26-page article on the story of Charleroi, and its sewers, in granting the borough a permit to make plans for a sewage disposal plant. What a big lot of trouble it took to do all that work.

If it takes rich people to support the Metropolitan Opera company and the Pittsburg orchestra, what would it take to support a glee club of young fellows, like the Washington and Jefferson Glee club?

We find it here—"Reporter—'Mr. Ticker just gave me a big scoop on the investigation of his trust.' Editor—'Fine! What are his terms'? Reporter—'As usual, omit all names, dates, places, and the real facts of the case.'"—Puck.

Cologne For Tired Feet.

The girl who suffers with her feet as soon as summer comes will often find relief by bathing them frequently with cologne or alcohol.

Do not begrudge the time spent in removing shoes and stockings to bathe the feet whenever especially tired. To suffer with the feet is a greater strain on the nervous system, not to mention one's temper, than most women realize. Nothing should be counted too much trouble that will give even temporary relief.

Besides cologne rubbing, the woman with sensitive feet should be particular about her shoes and stockings. Counting cost with footwear is the greatest mistake she can make. Probably she can find moderate priced ready made shoes that will fit her, but if she can not she should hunt some one who can combine comfort with style and have shoes made if they are three times as expensive as she is accustomed to pay.

If darns hurt her feet it is not economy to darn. Buy cheaper stockings and throw them away as soon as holes appear or turn them over to some member of the family who knows not the meaning of sensitive feet.

For Fluffy Hair.

The girl whose hair will not curl naturally can save herself many a bout with hot tongs by wetting the hair thoroughly with equal parts of green soap and water. This should be carefully rinsed off with fresh water.

While the hair is still damp it can be fluffed by running the fingers through it or by tying narrow ribbons tightly around the head, as a filet is worn, and combing up the hair between.

Unless the hair has a tendency to oiliness the green soap mixture should not be used too often, as it is drying in its effects.

A Don't For Girls.

Don't ever "nag." If you have to find fault or speak on any subject that you know will be distasteful say what you have to say and have done with it. There is nothing more exasperating than a continual harking back to an unpleasantness.

Pilkerton Won the Race.

At one of the regattas of the National Association of American Oarsmen during the early nineties James Pilkerton, for many years the champion sculler of America, was matched to row double against another team. He and his mate were the champions, and the general belief was that they would win without effort. But the night before the regatta public opinion suddenly and mysteriously changed. Mr. Pilkerton knew that this was not caused by any new development of strength in his oppoment or any loss of skill on his own part. After making some quiet inquiries he discovered that there was talk of his rowing mate having been bought up by the other side and of an arrangement to throw the race.

He didn't say anything about his suspicions, but when the two men were seated in the shell and were well out into the deep water he leaned over to his mate and said:

"Look here, you blooming cutthroat! You've got to swim, drown or win this race! You know me!" He won.

Would Bequeath Her Ears.

Harriet Martineau displayed originality in the provisions she made at one time for the disposal of her remains. James Payn relates that, having consulted Toynbee, the distinguished aurist, with regard to her deafness, "she was so pleased with the interest he took in her case that she resolved to leave him by testamentary bequest her ears. She announced this intention in the presence of her medical man, Mr. Shepherd, who to my infinite amazement observed: 'But, my dear madam, you can't do that. It will make your other legacy worthless.' The fact was, in the interest of science, Miss Martineau had already left her head to the Phrenological society. I asked the doctor how he came to know that. 'Oh,' he said, 'she told me so herself. She has left £10 in her codicil to me for cutting it off.'" The doctor, however, died before his patient, and the Phrenological society never received the legacy of her head.—London Chronicle.

Oh!

"How did you act when he proposed?"

"I sank gracefully on one knee."

"How ridiculous! What in the world did you sink on your knee for?"

"On his knee, not mine."—Houston Post.

Quite a Difference.

RULE OF THE SEA.

Old Whaling Law Applied to a Twice-Caught Cod.

That etiquette is observed among the fishermen that journey to the fishing banks was discovered by an amateur angler on his first trip.

The amateur hooked a codfish, but his line parted just as the fish was above the water. Back fell the codfish, carrying with him two sinkers and the hook.

Twenty minutes later another angler cried out that he had captured a cod with two sinkers and a hook. The amateur went up to the angler, who appeared to be an old salt, and asked for his hook and sinkers, which had his name stamped on them. He was surprised when the old salt told him to take the fish also.

According to the rules generally followed on the fishing boats, the second angler was entitled to the fish, but the hooks and sinkers should be returned to their owner. The old angler explained why he wanted to give up the fish.

It seems that he had followed the sea a great part of his life. When a young man he was a whaler, and, according to whaling law, a dead whale belongs to the ship whose name appears on the harpoon that killed it. Therefore the old salt figured that the amateur owned the codfish he had taken.—New York Sun.

The Old Habit.

Towne—I suppose you have heard that old Lawyer Sharpe is lying at the point of death? Browne—No. Well, well, the ruling passion strong in death, eh?—Philadelphia Press.

How poor are they that have no patience!—Shakespeare.

The Codmoppe.

Herrings are still eaten as much as in the days when Yarmouth had to send a hundred yearly to the king, baked in four and twenty pasties. But where is the codmoppe gone, and what was it like when kings dined off it in Lent? "Codmoppe sauce Hollandaise" would sound most intriguing on a Savoy menu. More original still would be the "rostid perpes" of a Henry V banquet, which was the "sea swine" of the unrefined Saxon, the "porco marino" of the mediaeval ecclesiast. A maister coke gives an early receipt for "puddyng of purpasse," another teaches how to "saite porpyesse and seele," another how to "undertraunche that purpos." From which it may be seen that enterprise extended also to the spelling of the mermaid.—London Chronicle.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS

Do Not Endanger Life When a Charleroi Citizen Shows You the Cure.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, cure yourself now, before diabetes, dropsy or Brights' disease sets in. Read this Charleroi testimony:

Mrs. B. Mahoney, 823 McKean avenue, Charleroi, Pa., says: "For a long time a member of our family complained of pains in the small of the back. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly advertised a box was procured at Piper Bros.' Drug Store and their use was begun.

They brought such great relief that I do not hesitate to recommend them to other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's and take no other.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

WARREN TOPPAN, Lynn, Mass.

Cured of severe compound cold and cough by

Vinol

"From Dec. 20, '08, to March 1, '09, I had three bad colds, one on top of the other. I got so weak I could hardly get around. Nothing seemed to help me until I began to take Vinol. The change was magic. Three bottles completely fixed that compound cold and stopped the terrible cough—and what surprises me most, at the same time it cured me of a severe stomach trouble that has bothered me for 20 years. Vinol is certainly a wonderful medicine."

Mr. Toppan is one of Lynn's most prominent and highly respected merchants, whose word is as good as his bond.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains the two most world-famed tonics—the medicinal, strengthening, body-building elements of Cod Liver Oil and Tonic Iron.

CHURCH LEAGUE PLAYERS ARE GETTING IN FORM

Many an Hibernated Wing Being Oiled Up to be Put in Action

GREAT INTEREST SHOWN

Funniosities Written for the Mail by Publicity Committee of the League.

Spring is here!

So is the Church League.

Everybody predicts a great season.

Also the fanning of the frenized fans.

Sam Todd is already figuring on his batting average.

Jesse Wagner will be in harness for the Methodists.

"Chick" Davis has been suggested as another umpire.

"Doc" Manon may break into the game this season.

The Washington Avenue Presbyterians have organized

"Abey" Levinson may be utilized as a "swinch" hitter.

Adolph Of Course has not yet announced his list of prizes.

The opening day parade will be one long to be remembered.

The "swaggle" play may be uncorked early in the season.

Burgess Risbeck will positively toss the first ball on opening day.

The birds are chirping, "Base-Ball! Base-Ball! Base-Ball!"

"Auditor" Small may round into shape for the opening struggle.

All balls hit over the left field fence will be reserved as trophies.

As the cold weather is now over the "sneeze" play is null and void.

"Old Hoss" Pfleghardt may dedicate his new building on opening day.

Many players have already been seen warming up their hibernated wings.

If Pitcher Provance gets into his old time form he will make them all go some.

Congressman Tener may be found in the Episcopals' lineup for the big games.

The umpires may be selected at the next meeting; also certified police protection.

Ralph Miller of the Lutherans is a coming young twirler. Keep an eye on him.

The Catholics have a genial leader in Manager Rickey, well-liked by everybody.

Boyd Oller is again organizing quietly but effectively for the First Presbyterians.

Jim Holdshue may appear in the official umpire's togs. He is an old star at this game.

"Mike" Crowley is not such a consistent hitter, but he certainly swats 'em for extra bases.

Joe Irose will pull off the tonsorial play upon the first player making a "sanitary" home run.

Dale Jolliffe's "Charley-horse" has been returned in good shape and he may pitch this season.

Charley Steele of the Washington Avenue Presbyterians may unearth his old Kiski batting eye.

Robert McGowan is the Christians, new manger, and the selection of "Bobby" is a popular one.

The injured ankle of Jules Balza is in good shape again and also his famous "home-run" swat-stick.

"Doc" Hennings of the Lutherans requests that his name be added to the "smooth-head work" players.

National League rules will govern all contests, and each team must have at least ten men in uniform at each game.

The list of players for each team is limited to twenty-five and must be mailed to Secretary Ryland. Get busy, managers!

The Catholics report no less than four good pitchers, while the Methodists likewise possess a quartet of effective slab-artists.

Bert Mitchell of the Washington Avenue Presbyterians is one of the best catchers in this section, and will make all the base runners "hike" some.

Pete Bege will be back in harness, better than ever for the Methodists. It will be remembered that Pete's twirling won the pennant for them last season.

Two towns on the Monongahela Valley have sent letters to Secretary Ryland desiring information as to the methods of organization in the Charleroi Church league.

ONE MILLION DOLLARS FOR A GOOD STOMACH

This Offer Should be a Warning to Every Man and Woman.

The newspapers and medical journals have had much to say relative of a famous millionaire's offer of a million dollars for a new stomach.

This great multi-millionare was too busy to worry about the condition of his stomach. He allowed his dyspepsia to run from bad to worse until in the end it became incurable. His misfortune should serve as a warning to others. Every one who suffers with dyspepsia for a few years will give everything he owns for a new stomach.

Dyspepsia is caused by an abnormal state of the gastric juices. There is one element missing—Pepsin. The absence of this destroys the function of the gastric fluids. They lose their power to digest food.

We are now able to supply the pepsin in a form almost identical to that naturally created by the system when in normal health, so that it restores to the gastric juices their digestive power, and thus makes the stomach strong and well.

We want every one troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia to come to our store and obtain a box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. They contain Bismuth-Subnitrate and Pepsin prepared by a process which develops their greatest power to overcome digestive disturbance. Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are very pleasant to take. They soothe the irritable, weak stomach, strengthen and invigorate the digestive organs, relieve nausea and indigestion, promote nutrition and bring about a feeling of comfort.

If you give Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets a reasonable trial we will return your money if you are not satisfied with the result. Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Charleroi only at our store—The Rexall Store. John W. Caroll.

CURIOUS FOOD COMPOUND

Old Bones, Alum, Flint and Sulphuric Acid for Raising Bread.

Housekeepers have recently been solicited by some of the grocers and by peddlers to try another kind of baking powder—"cheaper and just as good," as they say. This is another scheme of some baking powder manufacturer to get a new brand in the market by offering the grocer a large profit. Housekeepers are not usually much benefited by such changes. Alum baking powders are generally low priced, but they are well known to be detrimental to health. Large quantities of one of them were recently seized in New York, being found to be largely composed of sharp pointed grains of round flint and sulphuric acid!

Most of the so-called phosphate powders are mixed with alum. The manufacturer of a phosphate powder has patented the process of making the principal ingredient of his powder from bones digested with sulphuric acid.

Housekeepers do not want such mixtures in their food. They should never encourage peddlers nor admit testers or alleged experimenters in food within their doors, and when buying baking powder should get a brand well known to be made of cream of tartar, which is a healthful product of the grape.

HE WANTED A PARROT.

The Use to Which the Old Man Would Put the Green Bird.

We are all striving for two things—success and happiness. To get these many of us are struggling for a third—fortune. In striving to attain our desires many of us need a green parrot. In a little town in Iowa, in the midst of a great stretch of timber and meadow, a man built a castle. Something over $25,000 he spent in building a home. It was finished within with the finest polished woods. The foundation was of brownstone, the windows of French plate, and every detail was carried out in the best manner. He had grown to be an old man. He had always lived in a modest cottage of six rooms. This mansion had fifteen. On one side there was a magnificent stone arch over the paved drive that led up to the house. He had just completed showing a friend over the place and reached this point when the visitor exclaimed:

"Well, John, you ought to be happy. This is a magnificent home. Here is everything one could wish for."

"Waal," replied the old man, who was a cattle buyer, "a fellow always wants something else."

"What on earth could you want?" was the query.

"A green parrot to hang up thar in the drive."

"Why a green parrot?"

"So every morning afore I drive out he would say, 'John, you're a darn fool.'"—Cleveland Press.

Couldn't Turn It.

The eye of little Willie's teacher was sad and sorry, for, notwithstanding that he was her favorite pupil, he stood before her convicted of the heinous charge of a theft of candy from a fellow pupil. It was a first offense, however, and she did not desire to inflict corporal punishment. A moral lecture, she thought, would fit the case.

"Bear in mind, Willie," she concluded, "that these temptations can be resisted if determination is used. Always turn a deaf ear to temptation."

Little Willie's lip trembled.

"But, teacher," he answered, "I ain't got a deaf ear."

A Fearless Prince.

Victor Emmanuel when prince royal held the rank of colonel in a regiment of artillery, and Humbert I. was on the throne. A new explosive had been invented, and the young prince was invited to be present at some experiments that were to be made with it. At the first shot the cannon being used burst with terrific force, scattering pieces of metal in every direction, but luckily not seriously injuring any one. Nevertheless the natural impulse to fly from danger seized officers and experts alike, and off they rushed with more unanimity than dignity. Only Victor Emmanuel remained at his post. He watched them for a moment and then in a quiet tone of kingly tenor, called them back.

"No use running now," he said, with a ghost of a smile playing about his lips. "All danger is over."

HOOKING ALLIGATORS.

A Florida Sport With an Element of Uncertainty in It.

"Hunting alligators at night with a bullseye lantern and shotgun is tame sport compared with what is called a gator hunt in Florida," said an old Floridian who is visiting New York. "I mean the feat of capturing an alligator alive and then towing the fellow to high ground through mud and water from what is called in Florida a gator hole.

"The gator fishermen first find the hole, which is indicated by an opening in the surrounding grass in the midst of a dense growth of vegetation, where the ground is worn smooth by the alligator in his pulls in and out. Sometimes these gator holes are in the nature of a cave in the bank of a stream and may be fifteen or twenty feet deep, and if so it is not an easy matter to get the animal out.

"The fisher is supplied with a long pole with a metal hook on the end. He takes a strong rope and throws it about the entrance of the hole. Then the fisher rams with the hooked pole down the den and waits and listens. If he finds a gator in the hole he teases the beast by poking him until the gator in a rage finally grabs the hooked pole and is pulled from the den. It is with uncertainty that he is dragged forth, for it is not known whether the catch is large or small. The fisher does not know whether to get into shape to run or to fight. Out the gator comes, bellowing and roaring mad.

"After the gator is dragged to the surface he in his rage turns and rolls and finally twists himself up in the rope or noose that has been previously prepared. With the assistance of the others in the party the gator's legs and mouth are tied and the gator is a prisoner.

"The gator is for the most part caught in marshes where the ground is soft and slushy and too wet for either horse or wagon to enter. The fishers are compelled to carry their catch to higher ground, there to be loaded into the waiting wagon, and the hunt is ended."—New York Sun.

Wanted Her.

"An old couple from the east," says the Detroit Free Press, "are visiting their son in this city. If the mother gets out of sight of the father, he is constantly asking for her and is not content till they are together again. The other evening she went to another part of the house while he was in the parlor and after he had asked for her a half dozen times the son said, rather curtly:

"'It seems as though you couldn't be without mother five minutes at a time.'

"'You're right,' said the old gentleman slowly. 'That's the reason I married her.'"

No Time For Retreat.

In an Irish garrison town a theatrical company was giving performances, and some soldiers from the local barracks were engaged to act as supers. Their duties included the waging of a fierce fight in which, after a stirring struggle, one army was defeated on a given signal from the prompter. For a few nights all went well, but on the Friday evening a special performance of the piece was to be given under the patronage of the colonel and other officers of the garrison. The two armies met as usual at the end of the second act, when they fought and fought and kept on fighting, regardless of the agonized glare in the eye of their (actor) general, who hoarsely ordered the proper army to "Retreat, confound you." But the fight still went on, and soon the horrified manager saw the wrong army being driven slowly off the stage, still fighting desperately. Down came the curtain amid roars of laughter, and the fuming manager hastened to ask the delinquents why they had failed to retreat on hearing the signal.

"Ittetraite," roared a burly fusileer whose visage had been badly battered, "and is it retraite ye'd have us, wid the colonel and all the officers in the boxes?"—London Scraps.

The Fox and the Hen.

A Fox, having crept into an outhouse, looked up and down for something to eat and at last spied a Hen sitting upon a perch so high that he could by no means come to her. He therefore had recourse to an old stratagem. "Dear cousin," he said to her, "how do you do? I heard that you were ill and kept at home. I could not rest, therefore, till I had come to see you. Pray let me feel your pulse. Indeed, you do not look well at all." He was running on in this impudent manner when the Hen answered him from the roost: "Truly, dear Reynard, you are in the right. I was seldom in more danger than I am now. Pray excuse my coming down. I am sure I should catch my death." The Fox, finding himself foiled, made off and tried his luck elsewhere.—Aesop.

He Took the Cake.

"Mike," said Plodding Pete, "dere's wuss t'ings dan gold bricks."

"What's happened?"

"De lady up de road said dat if I'd chop an armful of wood she'd gimme a cake."

"Didn't she keep her word?"

"Yep. She handed me a cake of soap."—Washington Star.

When It Started.

"Captain, what time does the boat start?"

"It starts, madam, when I give the word."

"Then I've always had the wrong idea. I thought it started when the engineer pulled a lever or did something. Thank you ever so much."—Chicago Tribune.

MIND OVER MATTER.

The Power of the Spirit In Helping to Retain Life.

The power of the mind over the body, as demonstrated in all forms of faith healing, was recognized in the seventeenth century by Richelieu's physician, Citois. Summoned to attend his master's constant fits of depression, Citois would solemnly call for a sheet of paper on which to write a prescription, and almost invariably after his departure the prescription would prove to consist of the words "One dram of Boisrobert."—Boisrobert being a poet of small talent, but possessed of high spirits and wit. In those days, when the common remedy was bleeding, when it is known that Voltaire, the poet, was bled to death and the Princess of Conti, suffering from apoplexy, was beaten till she died in the hope of rousing her from her lethargy, it is no wonder that a humane and a human physician like Citois should have been successful.

The famous frequenter of the French salons, Fontenelle, is, however, the best example of the power of the spirit in retaining life. At the age of ninety five he fell when picking up a lady's handkerchief and made the historic remark, "Ah, que je n'ai pas encore mes quatre-vingts ans." A certain callousness marked his determination not to die, as on the occasion when, a friend dying beside him at the table, he requested his man to remove him and continued his conversation. He managed, nevertheless, to survive to within a month of his hundred years and then complained that he would have lasted much longer had not the outbreak of war "put a stop to pleasant conversation."—London Chronicle.

The Wolf In Disguise.

Once upon a time a wolf who was going after the farmer's chickens took the advice of a fox and disguised himself in sheep's clothing.

"For," said the fox, "if the dogs see you they will take you for a harmless lamb and let you pass."

When the disguised wolf was near the chicken house he heard the dogs bark and saw them running toward him at the top of their speed.

"I am a fool," said the wolf. "For now the dogs think I am a lamb and have no fear of me. I will change my mind, get out of this incumbering clothing and make a winning fight."

But before he could get the garment off the dogs were upon him and took his life.

Moral.—It is easier to change your mind than your clothing.—New York Herald.

"The first day out was perfectly lovely," said the young lady just back from abroad. "The water was as smooth as glass, and it was simply gorgeous. But the second day was rough and—er—decidedly disgorgeous."—Everybody's Magazine.

Sound In the Air.

A writer in the Strand Magazine describes the astonishment he experienced when riding over London in a balloon at a height of more than half a mile he heard the deafening roar of the great city beneath him as it could not be heard when on the ground. The noise, even at that height, was so harsh and intense as to be painful to the ear. How perfect a sound conductor the air is was shown when the balloon drifted far over the city to a wooded part of the country, where the murmur of the leaves moved by the wind, half a mile below, was distinctly heard.

Careful For Others.

"No," said the candid kleptomaniac, "when I'm arrested for pilfering I never give my real name. It would compromise too many people."

"Indeed! And what is your name?" inquired the magistrate

"John Smith."—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Chip of the Old Block.

Crimsonbeak Owen Moore's son was in to see me today.

Yeast—Indeed! Doesn't he remind you of his father?

"Very much. He wanted to borrow $5."—Yonkers Statesman.

RUNNING THE GANTLET.

An Indian Incident In Indiana's Pioneer Days.

David Johnson, one of the early settlers of Indiana, was a noted hunter and at one time was with a hunting party of which John Severns was a member. On that occasion the early settlement of the state was discussed. Mr. Severns, having been there so many years before any other white man, was accepted as authority on all such subjects. In the "Pioneer History of Indiana" Colonel W. M. Cockrum gives one of Mr. Severns' stories as repeated by Mr. Johnson.

Mr. Severns said that in the fall of 1795 he was with half a dozen of his Indian neighbors, hunting, and that he stayed all night at an Indian village. During the night two white prisoners were brought in, and preparations were made for their trial and death.

First two lines were formed facing each other and the two men were compelled to run the gantlet between the lines. A point some hundred yards beyond the lines of the gantlet was designated as the place that was to be reached to save their lives.

One of the men was of middle age but frail; the other was a strong, athletic young fellow. The lines were made up of more than 100 Indians, mostly squaws and boys, with enough active men to keep the prisoners from getting away. The young man was the first to make the race. He got through the lane and to the life station without being much hurt.

The older man before he started held up his hands and offered a prayer to God for aid. Then commenced the race, which was not more than half completed before he was knocked down by a heavy club in the hands of a squaw and was set upon by the horde of squaws and boys and beaten to death.

As soon as he was knocked down the young man, who was several hundred feet away, ran like a deer and jumped into the throng of Indians and tried to save his friend's life, but was soon overpowered and dragged away.

For this brave act the chief of the village adopted the young man to take the place of a son whom he had lost.

Mr. Severns, on being asked why he did not intercede for the prisoners said that if he had attempted to interfere it would have cost him his life.

The Banyan Tree.

A regiment of 1,000 men could readily find shelter under a single banyan tree. In India there is one of these trees which has 350 main trunks and over 3,000 smaller ones.

Caution Extraordinary.

"You have a night key?"

"Of course," answered Mr. Meekton, "only I'm so careless that Henrietta keeps it locked up in the safety deposit so that I won't lose it."—Washington Star.

Amateurish.

"Am I the first girl you ever kissed?"

"You are—I swear it!"

"I accept your apology."—Cleveland Leader.

Lavender Oil.

As four-fifths of the oil extracted from lavender is concealed in the bloom the harvest takes place just before the flower begins to fade at the end of August. The oil is distilled by means of steam, which is compelled to penetrate the closely packed lavender afterward being drawn off in pipes that run through cold water. In this manner the steam is reconverted into water, but the process of passing through the lavender has extracted the oil, which floats on the surface of the water as it runs into glass jars down below. These jars have sprouts in the center, thus enabling the water to run out while the oil collects above the level of the exit. In this the first stage the oil is of a brownish blue tint, and it now has to be refined by passing once more through water. Thus all impurities are removed, and the oil runs out white, save for a very pale blue color similar to that observed in paraffin. Three pounds of oil will make thirty gallons of the perfume. The majority of ladies would be surprised if they were informed that a bottle of lavender water contains but about a thimbleful of pure oil, for a larger proportion would not only render the water too strong for use, but would burn holes through the handkerchief wherever the scent touched it.—London Standard.

The Poor Bridegroom.

"Even the English language emphasizes the insignificance of a man at his own wedding," said the prospective bridegroom disconsolately. "There isn't an independent word to designate him. He is merely called the groom of the bride, as if he were just about on a level with the bridesmaids and a little below the maid of honor. Best man, of course, means the bridegroom's best man, but the phrase itself tends to exalt this individual at the expense of his superior.

"Then there's no adjective to describe what pertains to the male half of the affair. You can't speak of the 'bridegroomal' trousers or necktie. On the other hand, 'bridal' applies not only to the possessions of the girl, but to what relates to both of them equally, like the trip and the bridal chamber. The very words 'matrimony' and 'matrimonial' are from the feminine side only. 'Patrimony' has nothing to do with the nuptials. It applies only to wealth and signifies that a man's part in the affair is to get out and hustle for the cash."—Philadelphia Ledger.

How Standing Armies Originated.

The earliest European standing army was that of Macedonia, established about 358 B. C. by Philip, father of Alexander the Great. It was the second in the world's history, having been preceded only by that of Sesotris Pharaoh of Egypt, who organized a military caste about 1600 B. C. Of modern standing armies, that formed by the Turkish janizaries was first, being fully organized in 1362. It was a century later that the standing army of France, the earliest in western Europe, was established by Charles VII. in the shape of "compagnies d'ordonnance," numbering 9,000 men. Rivalry thereupon compelled the nations to adopt similar means of defense. In England a standing army proper was first established by Cromwell, but was disbanded under Charles II., with the exception of a few regiments called the guards, or household brigade. This was the nucleus of England's present army.

The Modern Way.

One friend who has spent a long and useful life and looks good for another half century expects his reward in heaven and meantime is a philosopher. He can talk on any subject under the sun, from "the flower of poesy" to "the precession of the equinoxes." He apparently knows the "Iliad" and "Odyssey" by heart, so I knew that when he handed me a bit of verse it must be good.

"Here is a hymn on the solar system or some other lofty theme, thought I, placing the sheet in my better case. When I arrived home I read:

The lizard climbed a wall. He climbed it once,
He climbed it twice—then crawled away.

The bee sipped a flower. He sipped it once,
He sipped it twice—then flew away.

The man kissed a maid. He kissed her once,
He kissed her twice—then walked away.

The wall wasn't sunny; the flower had no honey;
The maid had no money. Funny!

The problem now is whether the contribution is a joke or a gem.—National Magazine.

The Old Story

Long time ago, when the animals were getting their freedom suits news was sent around that every one was to come to the great man's castle to be fitted out. The squirrel invited the rabbit to go for a set of teeth, but he said wait. The cat ask him to go for claws, but the rabbit said there is plenty of time. But when the other animals came back with claws and teeth he came to his senses, and made a run for the castle, only to find there was nothing to fit him, like some people of today who put off having their eyes properly fitted with glasses, when it costs them nothing to have them examined at

OWNERS OF BROWNSVILLE BRIDGE MUST OBEY LAW, SAYS SECRETARY M'VEAGH

Structure Must be Torn Down According to Orders of the Supreme Court Which Confirms Lower Body in Their Decision.

COOPER WORKING HARD

Makes Request That Bridge be Allowed to Stand for Time Being in Order that Some Arrangements Can be Made for Disposal.

Admitting that the destruction of the Brownsville bridge would be a great hardship to the people of Brownsville and community, Secretary of the Treasury McVeagh yesterday informed Representative A. F. Cooper of the Fayette, Somerset and Greene district, who is working in behalf of the bridge owners, that the law would have to be complied with. This means that the bridge will have to be razed within a certain time.

When President Taft was Secretary of War the bridge was condemned as an obstruction to navigation. An order was issued that it be raised and the channel span widened. The order was confirmed by the Supreme Court. It cannot be complied with without the destruction of the bridge and erecton of a new one.

Secretary McVeagh will not be unreasonable, however, and though he would make no promise, seemed to intimate that if the owners of the bridge would make some definite proposal he would consider it. If a time can be agreed upon for compliance with the order the bridge may be permitted to stand meanwhile. Otherwise the department will proceed with enforcement. The matter in all its essential aspects is the same as the case of the old Union bridge at Pittsburg, which was razed when order to raise it was issued.

The Brownsville bridge is used daily by large numbers of people as a public crossing. It has stood for many years.

CHARLEROI DEFEATS FAYETTE CITY FIVE

Cononials Add Another Victory to Their Already Long String.

The Colonial Basketball team added another victory to its already long string, when it defeated the Fayette Y. M. C. A. five on the local floor last evening. The game was a good one throughout, although the visitors were outclassed by the fast playing of the Colonials. The score:

| Colonials—45 | | Fayette City—20 |
|---|---|---|
| T. Mangan | F | Hainer |
| E. Riggs | F | Carlson |
| Wilson | C | E. Roy |
| F. Mangan | G | Middleton |
| Oller, Allshouse | G | G. Roy |

Field Goals—T. Mangan, 7; Wilson, 8; F. Mangan, 7; Hainer, 2; Carlson, 2; E. Roy, 2; G. Roy, 1. Goals from fouls—Wilson, 1; Carlson, 5.

Fayette County Commissioners Pay the Reward

Give $500 to the Captors of B. Frank Smith to Repay Them for Their Efforts.

The county commissioners of Fayette county yesterday paid over the $500 reward offered for the apprehension of B. Frank Smith. M. M. Malone, one of the captors, came to Uniontown with the release signed by all the claimants and the money was turned over.

Mr. Malone stated that he and Lewis Fee will receive $150 and J. I. Malone, S. L. Curtis, C. E. Radcliffe and G. Frankenberry will get $50 each. This was the division agreed upon among the men and is satisfactory to the commissioners.

SERVICES HOLY WEEK

Charleroi Denominations will Specially Observe Solemn Feast Days.

BEGINS ON PALM SUNDAY

In Charleroi as elsewhere throughout the Christianized portions of the world, the most solemn period of the religious year will be observed, beginning next Sunday. Palm Sunday, while itself a joyous feast rather than a day of sorrow, marking as it does the triumphial entry of Christ into Jerusalem, is the opening day of that period known as Holy Week, in which the closing scenes in the life of the Savior, his passion and death are commemorated, to be followed by the feast of Easter, commemorating the most glorious incident in church history, the resurrection of the Lord.

Holy Week is observed particularly in the Catholic, Episcopalian and Lutheran churches. At St. Jerome's Catholic church there will be mass every morning next week. On Maunday Thursday there will be special evening services and on Good Friday, the date on which Christ was crucified, there will be special commemorative masses. Saturday there will be a morning mass leading up to the Easter feast. The blessing of the palms and their distribution will take place on Palm Sunday.

At St. Mary's Episcopal church there will likewise be special services each day next week. Wednesday evening there will be evening prayer and an address by Rev. John R. Pickels of Pittsburg. Maunday Thursday there will be a celebration of the holy communion at 7:30 in the evening. The following day, Good Friday, there will be morning prayer, litany and an address at 10:30, and evening service at 4 o'clock. On Saturday, Easter eve, the sacrament of baptism will be administered at 8 o'clock. On Easter Sunday there will be special services morning and evening, in the evening a prorgam to be given by the children. Leading up to Holy Week, on Friday of this week there will be evening prayer, and litany at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

At Christ Lutheran church there will be special services on Palm Sunday, on Holy Thursday and Good Friday, ending up with the celebration of Easter. All week day services will be held in the evening at 7:30 o'clock.

ONLY TWO MORE DAYS LEFT IN WHICH CONTESTANTS MAY WORK FOR LAST EXTRA SPECIAL BONUS VOTE OFFER

Eleventh Hour Finishes Are Sometimes Sensational, and Indications are That This May be One.

By V. H. Austin.

Two days after today to work on the last bonus vote offer of the contest 5,000 extra votes with every $25.00 turned in on subscriptions. Candidates cannot afford to take things easy for the loss of a minute might mean the defeat of a valuable prize. Not a single prize is nailed down—and no candidate can be sure of winning. The eleventh hour finishes are sometimes sensational—and if you don't intend to work during the week—to get right down to business and stick to it—it will mean defeat—and the loss of time after having spent many weeks in the battle.

GATHERING UP PROMISES.

Many of the candidates are beginning to gather in "the later on" promises. Every candidates needs every vote possible. It is better to have four hundred thousand too many, than to lose by a half dozen votes. The way to win is to keep up your ethusiasm, the enthusiasm of your friends, and to enlist your friends in an active canvass in your behalf.

WARNING TO INDIFFERENT CANDIDATES.

The Mail Publishing company has offered in its popularity contest now on and which will close Saturday night, March 26, ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS' WORTH OF PRIZES, and so distributed them that everybody in this vicinity might have a fair chance to win a reward for faithful services.

These prizes were not hung up as a charity or an act of philanthropy, or a desire to make some one a present of something for nothing. They are offered in exchange for work in behalf of the circulation department of their papers. They have nothing to give away as a gratuity any more than you have. This, as was initially announced, is a business proposition.

And all candidates having less than TWENTY THOUSAND votes to their credit Monday, March 21st, will be taken from the list. THIS IS A FAIR WARNING. SO GET BUSY.

FREDERICK WARD WILL SURRENDER

Comes to Pittsburg to Give Himself Up to the Authorities.

Frederick Ward, the Pittsburg promoter, whose operations in connection with Clifford Drum, cashier, caused the bank of Coal Centre to lose about $60,000, sent word from Pittsburg this week that he would surrender himself in a few days and start on his sentence of a year and six months in the penitentiary.

Drum escaped imprisonment by paying to the bank $40,000. Ward was unable to make restitution, and appealed, but the lower court was sustained. Conspiracy to defraud was the charge made.

ASSESSOR GIVING OUT NOTICES TO PROPERTY OWNERS

Commissioners Will Visit Townships as Well as Larger Boroughs.

Assessor Georg W. Dawson is today distributing the notices for the court of appeals to be held in Charleroi by the county commissioners on March 28 and March 29. Mr. Dawson is finding that some of the persons to whom he notices go, especially among the foreigners, are hard to locate.

Next Tuesday the commissioners will be at Finleyville and will hear appeals for Finleyville, Nottingham, Union and Peters.

Next Wednesday they will be at Monongahela and will hear the property holders of that place and also those of Carroll, Union, Somerset and Fallowfield.

Thursday they will be at Bentleyville and will hear the property holders of that place, Ellsworth, Cokeburg, Somerset and Fallowfield. These will be heard in the morning. In the afternoon they will be at Beallsville and will hear that borough, Deemston, West Pike Run, West Bethlehem and Centerville.

Friday afternoon they will be at Marianna and will hear that borough, West Bethlehem, Deemston and Amwell.

Saturday they will be at Donora and will hear Donora and Carroll.

CHARLEROI MAN WINS HIS SUIT

Court Awards Amount to Cary Piper and W.A. Stroud in Burtnett Estate Case.

The suit of W. A. Stroud of Coal Centre and Cary Piper of Charleroi, against the estate of J. W. Burtnett was concluded at Washington this week, the jury returning a verdict of $7,128.88 in favor of the plaintiffs.

The suit is the outcome of the failure of the People's Bank of California. Messrs. Stroud, Piper and Burtnett were bondsmen in the sum of $20,000 for O. F. Piper, cashier of bank. The latter is alleged to have appropriated $63,000 from the bank, causing its failure. Burtnett had died in the meantime, and Stroud and Piper were compelled to pay the sum demanded in the bond. They then entered suit to require the estate of Burtnett to bear its pro rata share of the bond, and the jury has found a verdict in their favor.

MAGIC CITY QUARTET WILL ACCOMPANY REV. G. G. KERR TONIGHT

Will Render Selections Preceding Famous Lecture at Donora.

The Magic City Male quartet, composed of C. Steel, first tenor; John A. Bowman, second tenor; Louis Jobes, first bass, and Thomas Kendrick, second bass and D. Davis, a Welsh soloist of Charleroi, will accompany Rev. G. G Kerr to Donora tonight where they will assist in an entertainment. Rev. Kerr will give his noted lecture, "The Value of a Boy and How to Get the Worth of of Him." This will be this quartet's first public appearance for concert work. They have sung several times at the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church. It is likely that some Charleroi people will accompany the party.

DANCING SCHOOL.

Prof. Oatman's Dancing School every Tuesday night in the Bank of Charleroi Hall. Beginner's class 8 to 9, social dance 9 to 12, Maxwell Orchestra. Ladies, 25c; gentlemen, 50c. New dances will be taught. 177t6

WELL KNOWN CHARLEROI MAN IN LINE FOR PART OF LEGACY FROM RELATIVES

Indiana People Inquire of County Treasurer Lane for the Whereabouts of N. C. Brown and His Brother, Cary Brown.

NEWS CAME AS SURPRISE

Local Man Not Expecting Anything of the Sort—Publicity Given Matter Was Responsible for His Being Located in This Locality.

Norman C. Brown of Fallowfield avenue, this morning learned through an unofficial source that he was an heir to a part of a legacy left by a relative who died some time ago in the State of Indiana. Just what portion of the fortune will be his is not known to Mr. Brown, to whom the news came as somewhat of a surprise. Sharing with him the portion of the fortune is his brother, Cary W. Brown of 115 East 8th street, Los Angeles, California, formerly a Washington county man.

The way in which Mr. Brown learned of his good fortune reads like a novel. County Treasurer W. E. Lane at Washington yesterday received a letter from Ranzel Brown, of R. D. 1, Delaware, Indiana, asking for the whereabouts of Norman C. Brown and Cary W. Brown, former residents of this county. Mr. Lane has no knowledge of the men, and handed the matter to the press for information. It appeared in the county seat papers yesterday to be noticed by Dr. J. K. Smith of Charleroi, who called Mr. Brown's attention to the matter this morning in a telephone communcation. Mr. Brown stated that he must be the one. He is employed at Monessen, and at noon today came home to see about the matter. He will get into communcation with the Western authorities and learn more about the matter. He is unaware of the probable amount of the legacy, much less the amount he will receive.

Held Reception and Banquet Last Night—Charleroi People Present.

The California Aerie of Eagles No. 1881 last eveining held a reception in their new rooms in the Odd Fellows building at that place, dedicating their new rooms. The club recently moved into these quarters, and the social affair was arranged in honor of the occasion. There were a large number present, our of town guests being present from Charleroi, Monongahela, Brownsville and other places.

One Bale Left.

Everybody Knows How Sheetings Have Advanced.

One bale of 40 inch wide unbleached sheeting to go at the old price. A good-round thread for sheeting and family use. Well worth 10c. a yard but we will close out a thousand yards on Friday and Saturday only at 7 1-2 cents the yard. Why Pay More? Kirk and Clark. 178t2

Inspector Says Local Postoffice Is in Good Shape

H. H. Williams Here Today to Look Over Accounts in Charleroi Office.

Postoffice Inspector H. H. Williams of Greensburg is in Charleroi today making the annual inspection of the Charleroi postoffice. The inspectors is the first one to be made since Mr. McCardle took charge.

In an invterview, Mr. Williams, who is a former newspaper man, said, "The postoffice in Charleroi is in excellent shape and doing a good business. The accounts I find in splendid condition and the internal workings of the office are greatly improved."

Mr. Williams has been making inspections in this territory for several days, and is not quite finished.

LICENSE ALTERED

Board of Health Take Action to Cut Out Objectional Part.

ARE NOW BEING PREPARED

The board of health in a short meeting last night decided to comply with the request of the Fallowfield Milkmen's Association to have the milk dealers license prepared to conform with the application recently agreed upon by a committee from the board of health and the association. The license will be ready for the milkmen to sign in the near future.

The part over which the milkmen objected was "This license is issued in accordance with the Rules and Regulation of the Board of Health and may be revoked at any time for failure to comply therewith." This part will be cut from the license. It is expected there will be no further trouble on the milk question. The board of health was guided in the action by the advice of an attorney.

Athene Club Accepts Invitation.

The Athene Club will hold their regular meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. P. McCloskey on Crest avenue and Sixth street. Mrs. McCloskey extended the club a special invitation to hold the meeting at her home, and it was unanimously accepted.

Illustrated Lecture.

George L. Olney of New York city, who has been in this vicinity for some time giving his illustrated lecture, "The Wayward Boy" at various places will lecture at the Star Theatre, here on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The lecture will be for everybody over 16 years old. Children accompanied by their parents will be admitted. The lecture will be the same that he has been giving elsewhere.

Baptists to Meet.

An attempt to organize a team for the coming season in the church league will be made by the Baptists team tonight, when a meeting will be held at the church at 7:30 o'clock.

Ireland's Patron Saint.

A blossoming of green today proclaims the fact that people of Irish extraction are honoring the memory of Ireland's patron saint. Outside of the popularly accepted statement in the song, that "St. Patrick Was a Gentleman," that he is supposed to have banished the snakes and toads from Ireland, and that his memory is observed on March 17, many people are not aware of the significance of the anniversary. In the annals of Christianity, of human liberty and the world's progress generally, St. Patrick occupies a bold and commanding position. This fact alone is ample cause for all the adoration and commemoration that is tendered his memory today throughout the civilized world.

First of all he was an evangelist. In Ireland he found a land of heathens, and he left them a country of Christians. With no aid or support but his own supreme Christian faith and zeal in the work, he entered the land of barbarians and converted them to Christianity. Alone he preached the gospel of Christ, and alone he converted whole kingdoms to the faith baptizing kings and subjects alike at the common altar of the Master. He founded churches, schools and cloisters for both sexes, made just laws and introduced the softening and civilizing influences of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. In addition to this he was zealous for the suppression of human slavery, which under the old Roman and barbaric dominion prevailed at that time.

These are some of the general reason why the name of St. Patrick severed. Although at a different period and under vastly different conditions, his work was but a continuation along the same lines as that of the great Apostle, the founder of Christianity. He was one of the great Christian disciples who blazed the way for all the blessings of civilization that the world enjoys today.

Ought Not to Conflict.

Opposition to the postal savings banks has developed on the part of the bankers and their associations throughout the country. These oppose the institution of the project on the grounds that it will conflict with private interests in banking. They make the claim that the Government should not go into the banking business, as that is purely a private function.

To the ordinary man it would appear that the two institutions ought not to conflict. The postals savings banks are planned to accommodate small depositors who do not patronize the private banks, partly for the reason that they believe their savings too small for the banks to consider, and partly on account of distrust, for it cannot be denied that many banks go wrong, to the loss of depositors. On the other hand the Government is always responsible, and it is believed that the postal savings banks will attract thousand of depositors who otherwise hoard their money and thus release it for business purposes. The Government in turn will deposit this money in the various banks, so that it may enter business channels.

Postal savings banks work well in other countries. The plan seems to have merit, and if given a fair trial it will probably develop that the two systems will in no wise conflict to the detriment of the one to any appreciable extent.

Raise More Hogs.

With the present high price of pork, it would seem that the logical policy for every farmer in this vicinity as well as elsewhere, would be to start in now to make preparations to raise all the hogs he possibly can, as well as the food products on which to maintain and fatten them for market. The larger the scale on which this policy is carried out, the greater the sum of ready money that can be realized when the hogs are butchered and sold.

It has been fuly demonstrated that the farms of this section can produce enormous crops of corn with a half-way favorable season and intelligent and scientific culture. By producing a big corn crop and then turning it into pork, the way is clear for a good and profitable business enterprise for all farmers throughout the county.

With pork and other farm products at fancy prices some of these unused farms and fields in this section might be made to produce most profitably.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

The only good in some fellow is good for nothing.

One reason why many people are not bad is because they haven't the price.

Some people would stake their religion in a card game, and be glad when they lost.

Roller skating is no crime. It is only made so through the too ardent services of some lawmakers.

Some men are born mean, some achieve meanness, while others have meanness thrust upon them.

If a woman makes a mistake she is just naturally bad, while if a man goes to the dogs he is just "sowing his wild oats."

The way the Charleroi Water company has been jumping rates on some people would indicate that they had nothing else to do.

A Fayette county man was arrested, but not principally because there was a reward offered. It was more as a matter of course.

There is a proposition on foot for the manufacturing of clothing out of rats. It might be a good idea. It also might not be a good idea.

People who have been hoping so ardently for the good old summer time must not forget that it is then that they have to push the lawn mower.

Theodore Roosevelt, despite reports and rumors to the contrary, is still living and in good health. It will take more than rumor to kill him.

Milwaukee is heading a movement for cheaper living. The milliners there have advertised "Ladies hats, as good as anyone cares to wear at $2.00."

In New York city joy riders do not seem to care for other people's lives or their own. Such fellows should be put to whitewashing the cells of the Leavenworth penitentiary.

There's an old saying about three being a crowd, but one of some men we have seen would make the biggest kind of a crowd in a seat of one of the old Pittsburg-Charleroi cars.

Western railroads have asked the Government to aid them in preventing a strike. Probably expect to have the Government have Taft sit on the persons advocating the strike.

Will the fellow who has been writing about the stomach telescope please tell just what he means? We have had the stomach-ache, but never yet suffered from a stomach telescope.

The most interesting pamphlet or book to the average person nowadays is not the Congressional Record, but to the fellow seeking information the Record is sometimes a great help.

Some men want their wives to be allowed to vote, so that they will vote for legislation to reduce the price of hats and other wearing apparel. What does the wife care what her hats cost? She doesn't pay for them.

They have found out that artists go to the pen as well as anyone else. One down in the Western Penitentiary has gained more notoriety since he has been there by one lone painting than he ever got before by all his misdeeds.

Samuel G. Dixon, State Health Commissioner, has written a 26-page article on the story of Charleroi, and its sewers, in granting the borough a permit to make plans for a sewage disposal plant. What a big lot of trouble it took to do all that work.

If it takes rich people to support the Metropolitan Opera company and the Pittsburg orchestra, what would it take to support a glee club of young fellows, like the Washington and Jefferson Glee club?

We find it here—"Reporter—'Mr. Ticker just gave me a big scoop on the investigation of his trust.' Editor—'Fine! What are his terms'? Reporter—'As usual, omit all names, dates, places, and the real facts of the case.'"—Puck.

Cologne For Tired Feet.

The girl who suffers with her feet as soon as summer comes will often find relief by bathing them frequently with cologne or alcohol

Do not begrudge the time spent in removing shoes and stockings to bathe the feet whenever especially tired. To suffer with the feet is a greater strain on the nervous system, not to mention one's temper than most women realize Nothing should be counted too much trouble that will give even temporary relief

Besides cologne rubbing the woman with sensitive feet should be particular about her shoes and stockings Counting cost with footgear is the greatest mistake she can make. Probably she can find moderate priced ready made shoes that will fit her, but if she cannot she should hunt some one who can combine comfort with style and have shoes made if they are three times as expensive as she is accustomed to pay

If darns hurt her feet it is not economy to darn Buy cheaper stockings and throw them away as soon as holes appear or turn them over to some member of the family who knows not the meaning of sensitive feet.

For Fluffy Hair.

The girl whose hair will not curl naturally can save herself many a bout with hot tongs by wetting the hair thoroughly with equal parts of green soap and water. This should be carefully rinsed off with fresh water

While the hair is still damp it can be fluffed by running the fingers through it or by tying narrow ribbons tightly around the head, as a filet is worn, and combing up the hair between.

Unless the hair has a tendency to oiliness the green soap mixture should not be used too often, as it is drying in its effects

A Don't For Girls.

Don't ever "nag." If you have to find fault or speak on any subject that you know will be distasteful say what you have to say and have done with it. There is nothing more exasperating than a continual harking back to an unpleasantness.

Pilkerton Won the Race.

At one of the regattas of the National Association of American Oarsmen during the early nineties James Pilkerton, for many years the champion sculler of America was matched to row double against another team He and his mate were the champions and the general belief was that they would win without effort But the night before the regatta public opinion suddenly and mysteriously changed Mr Pilkerton knew that this was not caused by any new development of strength in his opponent or any loss of skill on his own part. After making some quiet inquiries he discovered that there was talk of his rowing mate having been bought up by the other side and of an arrangement to throw the race

He didn't say anything about his suspicions, but when the two men were seated in the shell and were well out into the deep water he leaned over to his mate and said:

"Look here, you blooming cuttthroat! You've got to swim, drown or win this race! You know me!" He won

Would Bequeath Her Ears.

Harriet Martineau displayed originality in the provisions she made at one time for the disposal of her remains James Payn relates that, having consulted Toynbee, the distinguished aurist with regard to her deafness, "she was so pleased with the interest he took in her case that she resolved to leave him by testamentary bequest her ears She announced this intention in the presence of her medical man, Mr Shepherd, who to my infinite amazement observed: 'But, my dear madam you can't do that. It will make your other legacy worthless.' The fact was, in the interest of science, Miss Martineau had already left her head to the Phrenological society. I asked the doctor how he came to know that 'Oh,' he said, 'she told me so herself. She has left £10 in her codicil to me for cutting it off'" The doctor however, died before his patient, and the Phrenological society never received the legacy of her head—London Chronicle.

"I sank gracefully on one knee."

"How ridiculous! What in the world did you sink on your knee for?"

"On his knee, not mine."—Houston Post

ADVERTISE IN THE MAIL

RULE OF THE SEA.

Old Whaling Law Applied to a Twice Caught Cod.

That etiquette is observed among the fishermen that journey to the fishing banks was discovered by an amateur angler on his first trip

The amateur hooked a codfish, but his line parted just as the fish was above the water Back fell the cod fish carrying with him two sinkers and the hook

Twenty minutes later another angler cried out that he had captured a cod with two sinkers and a hook The amateur went up to the angler who appeared to be an old salt, and asked for his hook and sinkers, which had his name stamped on them He was surprised when the old salt told him to take the fish also

According to the rules generally followed on the fishing boats, the second angler was entitled to the fish, but the hooks and sinkers should be returned to their owner The old angler explained why he wanted to give up the fish

It seems that he had followed the sea a great part of his life When a young man he was a whaler, and, according to whaling law, a dead whale belongs to the ship whose name appears on the harpoon that killed it Therefore the old salt figured that the amateur owned the codfish he had taken.—New York Sun.

The Old Habit.

Towne—I suppose you have heard that old Lawyer Sharpe is lying at the point of death? Browne—No. Well, well, the ruling passion strong in death eh?—Philadelphia Press

How poor are they that have no patience!—Shakespeare

The Codmoppe.

Herrings are still eaten as much as in the days when Yarmouth had to send a hundred yearly to the king, baked in four and twenty pasties. But where is the codmoppe gone, and what was it like when kings dined off it in Lent? "Codmoppe sauce Hollandaise" would sound most intriguing on a Savoy menu. More original still would be the "rostid perpes" of a Henry V banquet, which was the "sea swine" of the unrefined Saxon, the "porco marino" of the mediaeval ecclesiast. A maister coke gives an early receipt for "puddyng of purpasse," another teaches how to "salte porpyesse and seele," another how to "undertraunche that purpos." From which it may be seen that enterprise extended also to the spelling of the porcoise.—London Chronicle.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS

Do Not Endanger Life When a Charleroi Citizen Shows You the Cure.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, cure yourself now, before diabetes, dropsy or Brights' disease sets in. Read this Charleroi testimony:

Mrs. B. Mahoney, 823 McKean avenue, Charleroi, Pa., says: "For a long time a member of our family complained of pains in the small of the back. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly advertised a box was procured at Piper Bros.' Drug Store and their use was begun.

They brought such great relief that I do not hesitate to recommend them to other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's and take no other.

Don't forget the Methodist Chicken and Waffle Supper at church, March 17. 175t4

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

WARREN TOPPAN, Lynn, Mass.

Cured of severe compound cold and cough by

Vinol

"From Dec. 20, '08, to March 1, '09, I had three bad colds, one on top of the other. I got so weak I could hardly get around. Nothing seemed to help me until I began to take Vinol. The change was magic. Three bottles completely fixed that compound cold and stopped the terrible cough—and what surprises me most, at the same time it cured me of a severe stomach trouble that has bothered me for 20 years. Vinol is certainly a wonderful medicine."

Mr. Toppan is one of Lynn's most prominent and highly respected merchants, whose word is as good as his bond.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains the two most world-famed tonics—the medicinal, strengthening, body-building elements of Cod Liver Oil and Tonic Iron.

Also the fanning of the frenzied fans.

Sam Todd is already figuring on his batting average.

Jesse Wagner will be in harness for the Methodists.

"Chick" Davis has been suggested as another umpire.

"Doc" Manon may break into the game this season.

The Washington Avenue Presbyterians have organized

"Abey" Levinson may be utilized as a "swinch" hitter.

Adolph Of Course has not yet announced his list of prizes.

The opening day parade will be one long to be remembered.

The "swaggle" play may be uncorked early in the season.

Burgess Risbeck will positively toss the first ball on opening day.

The birds are chirping, "Base-Ball! Base-Ball! Base-Ball!"

"Auditor" Small may round into shape for the opening struggle.

All balls hit over the left field fence will be reserved as trophies.

As the cold weather is now over the "sneeze" play is null and void.

"Old Hoss" Pfleghardt may dedicate his new building on opening day.

Many players have already been seen warming up their hibernated wings.

If Pitcher Provance gets into his old time form he will make them all go some.

Congressman Tener may be found in the Episcopals' lineup for the big games.

The umpires may be selected at the next meeting; also certified police protection.

Ralph Miller of the Lutherans is a coming young twirler. Keep an eye on him.

The Catholics have a genial leader in Manager Rickey, well-liked by everybody.

Boyd Olier is again organizing quietly but effectively for the First Presbyterians.

Jim Holdshue may appear in the official umpire's togs. He is an old star at this game.

"Mike" Crowley is not such a consistent hitter, but he certainly swats 'em for extra bases.

Joe Irose will pull off the tonsorial play upon the first player making a "sanitary" home run.

Dale Jolliffe's "Charley-horse" has been returned in good shape and he may pitch this season.

Charley Steele of the Washington Avenue Presbyterians may unearth his old Kiski batting eye.

Robert McGowan is the Christians, new manger, and the selection of "Bobby" is a popular one.

The injured ankle of Jules Balza is in good shape again and also his famous "home-run" swat-stick.

"Doc" Hennings of the Lutherans requests that his name be added to the "smooth-head work" players.

National League rules will govern all contests, and each team must have at least ten men in uniform at each game.

The list of players for each team is limited to twenty-five and must be mailed to Secretary Ryland. Get busy, managers!

The Catholics report no less than four good pitchers, while the Methodists likewise possess a quartet of effective slab-artists.

Bert Mitchell of the Washington Avenue Presbyterians is one of the best catchers in this section, and will make all the base runners "hike" some.

Pete Bege will be back in harness, better than ever for the Methodists. It will be remembered that Pete's twirling won the pennant for them last season.

Two towns on the Monongahela Valley have sent letters to Secretary Ryland desiring information as to the methods of organization in the Charleroi Church league.

ONE MILLION DOLLARS FOR A GOOD STOMACH

This Offer Should be a Warning to Every Man and Woman.

The newspapers and medical journals have had much to say relative of a famous millionaire's offer of a million dollars for a new stomach.

This great multi-millionare was too busy to worry about the condition of his stomach. He allowed his dyspepsia to run from bad to worse until in the end it became incurable. His misfortune should serve as a warning to others. Every one who suffers with dyspepsia for a few years will give everything he owns for a new stomach.

Dyspepsia is caused by an abnormal state of the gastric juices. There is one element missing—Pepsin. The absence of this destroys the function of the gastric fluids. They lose their power to digest food.

We are now able to supply the pepsin in a form almost identical to that naturally created by the system when in normal health, so that it restores to the gastric juices their digestive power, and thus makes the stomach strong and well.

We want every one troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia to come to our store and obtain a box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. They contain Bismuth-Subnitrate and Pepsin prepared by a process which develops their greatest power to overcome digestive disturbance. Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are very pleasant to take. They soothe the irritable, weak stomach, strengthen and invigorate the digestive organs, relieve nausea and indigestion, promote nutrition and bring about a feeling of comfort.

If you give Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets a reasonable trial we will return your money if you are not satisfied with the result. Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Charleroi only at our store—The Rexall Store. John W. Caroll.

CURIOUS FOOD COMPOUND

Old Bones, Alum, Flint and Sulphuric Acid for Raising Bread.

Housekeepers have recently been solicited by some of the grocers and by peddlers to try another kind of baking powder—"cheaper and just as good," as they say. This is another scheme of some baking powder manufacturer to get a new brand in the market by offering the grocer a large profit. Housekeepers are not usually much benefited by such changes. Alum baking powders are generally low priced, but they are well known to be detrimental to health. Large quantities of one of them were recently seized in New York, being found to be largely composed of sharp pointed grains of round flint and sulphuric acid!

Most of the so-called phosphate powders are mixed with alum. The manufacturer of a phosphate powder has patented the process of making the principal ingredient of his powder from bones digested with sulphuric acid.

Housekeepers do not want such mixtures in their food. They should never encourage peddlers nor admit testers or alleged experimenters in food within their doors, and when buying baking powder should get a brand well known to be made of cream of tartar, which is a healthful product of the grape.

HE WANTED A PARROT.

The Use to Which the Old Man Would Put the Green Bird.

We are all striving for two things—success and happiness. To get these many of us are struggling for a third—fortune. In striving to attain our desires many of us need a green parrot. In a little town in Iowa, in the midst of a great stretch of timber and meadow, a man built a castle. Something over $25,000 he spent in building a home. It was finished within with the finest polished woods. The foundation was of brownstone, the windows of French plate, and every detail was carried out in the best manner. He had grown to be an old man. He had always lived in a modest cottage of six rooms. This mansion had fifteen. On one side there was a magnificent stone arch over the paved drive that led up to the house. He had just completed showing a friend over the place and reached this point when the visitor exclaimed:

"Well, John, you ought to be happy. This is a magnificent home. Here is everything one could wish for."

"Waal," replied the old man, who was a cattle buyer, "I know always wants something else."

"What on earth could you want?" was the query.

"A green parrot to hang up thar in the drive."

"Why a green parrot?"

"So every morning afore I drive out he would say, 'John, you're a darn fool.'"—Cleveland Press.

Couldn't Turn It.

The eye of little Willie's teacher was sad and sorry, for, notwithstanding that he was her favorite pupil, he stood before her convicted of the heinous charge of a theft of candy from a fellow pupil. It was a first offense, however, and she did not desire to inflict corporal punishment. A moral lecture, she thought, would fit the case.

"Bear in mind, Willie," she concluded, "that these temptations can be resisted if determination is used. Always turn a deaf ear to temptation."

Little Willie's lip trembled.

"But, teacher," he answered, "I ain't got a deaf ear."

A Fearless Prince.

Victor Emmanuel when prince royal held the rank of colonel in a regiment of artillery, and Humbert I. was on the throne. A new explosive had been invented, and the young prince was invited to be present at some experiments that were to be made with it. At the first shot the cannon being used burst with terrific force, scattering pieces of metal in every direction, but luckily not seriously injuring any one. Nevertheless the natural impulse to fly from danger seized officers and experts alike, and off they rushed with more unanimity than dignity. Only Victor Emmanuel remained at his post. He watched them for a moment and then in a quiet tone of kingly tenor, called them back.

"No use running now," he said, with a ghost of a smile playing about his lips. "All danger is over."

HOOKING ALLIGATORS.

A Florida Sport With an Element of Uncertainty in It.

"Hunting alligators at night with a bullseye lantern and shotgun is tame sport compared with what is called a gator hunt in Florida," said an old Floridian who is visiting New York. "I mean the feat of capturing an alligator alive and then towing the fellow to high ground through mud and water from what is called in Florida a gator hole.

"The gator fishermen first find the hole, which is indicated by an opening in the surrounding grass in the midst of a dense growth of vegetation, where the ground is worn smooth by the alligator in his pulls in and out. Sometimes these gator holes are in the nature of a cave in the bank of a stream and may be fifteen or twenty feet deep, and if so it is not an easy matter to get the animal out.

"The fisher is supplied with a long pole with a metal hook on the end. He takes a strong rope and throws it about the entrance of the hole. Then the fisher rams with the hooked pole down the den and waits and listens. If he finds a gator in the hole he teases the beast by poking him until the gator in a rage finally grabs the hooked pole and is pulled from the den. It is with uncertainty that he is dragged forth, for it is not known whether the catch is large or small. The fisher does not know whether to get into shape to run or to fight. Out the gator comes, bellowing and roaring mad.

"After the gator is dragged to the surface he in his rage turns and rolls and finally twists himself up in the rope or noose that has been previously prepared. With the assistance of the others in the party the gator's legs and mouth are tied and the gator is a prisoner.

"The gator is for the most part caught in marshes where the ground is soft and slushy and too wet for either horse or wagon to enter. The fishers are compelled to carry their catch to higher ground, there to be loaded into the waiting wagon, and the hunt is ended."—New York Sun.

Wanted Her.

"An old couple from the east," says the Detroit Free Press, "are visiting their son in this city. If the mother gets out of sight of the father, he is constantly asking for her and is not content till they are together again. The other evening she went to another part of the house while he was in the parlor and after he had asked for her a half dozen times the son said, rather curtly:

"'It seems as though you couldn't be without mother five minutes at a time.'

"'You're right,' said the old gentleman slowly. 'That's the reason I married her.'"

No Time For Retreat.

In an Irish garrison town a theatrical company was giving performances, and some soldiers from the local barracks were engaged to act as supers. Their duties included the waging of a fierce fight in which, after a stirring struggle, one army was defeated on a given signal from the prompter. For a few nights all went well, but on the Friday evening a special performance of the piece was to be given under the patronage of the colonel and other officers of the garrison. The two armies met as usual at the end of the second act, when they fought and fought and kept on fighting, regardless of the agonized glare in the eye of their (actor) general, who hoarsely ordered the proper army to "Retreat, confound you." But the fight still went on, and soon the horrified manager saw the wrong army being driven slowly off the stage, still fighting desperately. Down came the curtain amid roars of laughter, and the fuming manager hastened to ask the delinquents why they had failed to retreat on hearing the signal.

"Retraite," roared a burly fusileer whose visage had been badly battered, "and is it retraite ye'd have us, wid the colonel and all the officers in the boxes?"—London Scraps.

The Fox and the Hen.

A Fox, having crept into an outhouse, looked up and down for something to eat and at last spied a Hen sitting upon a perch so high that he could by no means come to her. He therefore had recourse to an old stratagem. "Dear cousin," he said to her, "how do you do? I heard that you were ill and kept at home. I could not rest, therefore, till I had come to see you. Pray let me feel your pulse. Indeed, you do not look well at all." He was running on in this impudent manner when the Hen answered him from the roost: "Truly, dear Reynard, you are in the right. I was seldom in more danger than I am now. Pray excuse my coming down. I am sure I should catch my death." The Fox, finding himself foiled, made off and tried his luck elsewhere.—Aesop.

He Took the Cake.

"Mike," said Plodding Pete, "dere's wuss t'ings dan gold bricks."

"De lady up de road said dat if I'd chop an armful of wood she'd gimme a cake."

"Didn't she keep her word?"

"Yep. She handed me a cake of soap."—Washington Star.

When It Started.

"Captain, what time does the boat start?"

"It starts, madam, when I give the word."

"Then I've always had the wrong idea. I thought it started when the engineer pulled a lever or did something. Thank you ever so much."—Chicago Tribune.

MIND OVER MATTER.

The Power of the Spirit In Helping to Retain Life.

The power of the mind over the body, as demonstrated in all forms of faith healing, was recognized in the seventeenth century by Richelieu's physician, Citois. Summoned to attend his master's constant fits of depression, Citois would solemnly call for a sheet of paper on which to write a prescription, and almost invariably after his departure the prescription would prove to consist of the words "One dram of Boisrobert." Boisrobert being a poet of small talent, but possessed of high spirits and wit. In those days, when the common remedy was bleeding, when it is known that Voiture, the poet, was bled to death and the Princess of Conti, suffering from apoplexy, was beaten till she died in the hope of rousing her from her lethargy, it is no wonder that a humane and a human physician like Citois should have been successful.

The famous frequenter of the French salons, Fontenelle, is, however, the best example of the power of the spirit in retaining life. At the age of ninety-five he fell when picking up a lady's handkerchief and made the historic remark, "Ah, que je n'ai pas encore mes quatre-vingts ans." A certain callousness marked his determination not to die, as on the occasion when a friend dying beside him at the table, he requested his man to remove him and continued his conversation. He managed, nevertheless, to survive to within a month of his hundred years and then complained that he would have lasted much longer had not the outbreak of war "put a stop to pleasant conversation."—London Chronicle.

The Wolf In Disguise.

Once upon a time a wolf who was going after the farmer's chickens took the advice of a fox and disguised himself in sheep's clothing.

"For," said the fox, "if the dogs see you they will take you for a harmless lamb and let you pass."

When the disguised wolf was near the chicken house he heard the dogs bark and saw them running toward him at the top of their speed.

"I am a fool," said the wolf. "For now the dogs think I am a lamb and have no fear of me. I will change my mind, get out of this incumbering clothing and make a winning fight."

But before he could get the garment off the dogs were upon him and took his life.

Moral.—It is easier to change your mind than your clothing.—New York Herald.

"The first day out was perfectly lovely," said the young lady just back from abroad. "The water was as smooth as glass, and it was simply gorgeous. But the second day was rough and—er—decidedly disgorgeous."—Everybody's Magazine.

Sound In the Air.

A writer in the Strand Magazine describes the astonishment he experienced when riding over London in a balloon at a height of more than half a mile he heard the deafening roar of the great city beneath him as it could not be heard when on the ground. The noise, even at that height, was so harsh and intense as to be painful to the ear. How perfect a sound conductor the air is was shown when the balloon drifted far over the city to a wooded part of the country, where the murmur of the leaves moved by the wind, half a mile below, was distinctly heard.

RUNNING THE GANTLET.

An Indian Incident In Indiana's Pioneer Days.

David Johnson, one of the early settlers of Indiana, was a noted hunter and at one time was with a hunting party of which John Severns was a member. On that occasion the early settlement of the state was discussed. Mr. Severns, having been there so many years before any other white man, was accepted as authority on all such subjects. In the "Pioneer History of Indiana" Colonel W. M. Cockrum gives one of Mr. Severns' stories as repeated by Mr. Johnson.

Mr. Severns said that in the fall of 1782 he was with half a dozen of his Indian neighbors, hunting, and that he stayed all night at an Indian village. During the night two white prisoners were brought in, and preparations were made for their trial and death.

First two lines were formed facing each other, and the two men were compelled to run the gantlet between the lines. A point some hundred yards beyond the lines of the gantlet was designated as the place that was to be reached to save their lives.

One of the men was of middle age but frail; the other was a strong, athletic young fellow. The lines were made up of more than 100 Indians, mostly squaws and boys, with enough active men to keep the prisoners from getting away. The young man was the first to make the race. He got through the lane and to the life station without being much hurt.

The older man before he started held up his hands and offered a prayer to God for aid, then commenced the race, which was not more than half completed before he was knocked down by a heavy club in the hands of a squaw and was set upon by the horde of squaws and boys and beaten to death.

As soon as he was knocked down the young man, who was several hundred feet away, ran like a deer and jumped into the throng of Indians and tried to save his friend's life, but was soon overpowered and dragged away.

For this brave act the chief of the village adopted the young man to take the place of a son whom he had lost.

Mr. Severns, on being asked why he did not intercede for the prisoners, said that if he had attempted to interfere it would have cost him his life.

Lavender Oil.

As four-fifths of the oil extracted from lavender is concealed in the bloom the harvest takes place just before the flower begins to fade at the end of August. The oil is distilled by means of steam, which is compelled to penetrate the closely packed lavender afterward being drawn off in pipes that run through cold water. In this manner the steam is reconverted into water, but the process of passing through the lavender has extracted the oil, which floats on the surface of the water as it runs into glass jars down below. These jars have sprouts in the center, thus enabling the water to run out while the oil collects above the level of the exit. In this the first stage the oil is of a brownish blue tint, and it now has to be refined by passing once more through water. Thus all impurities are removed, and the oil runs out white, save for a very pale blue color similar to that observed in paraffin. Three pounds of oil will make thirty gallons of the perfume. The majority of ladies would be surprised if they were informed that a bottle of lavender water contains but about a thimbleful of pure oil, for a larger proportion would not only render the water too strong for use, but would burn holes through the handkerchief wherever the scent touched it.—London Standard.

The Poor Bridegroom.

"Even the English language emphasizes the insignificance of a man at his own wedding," said the prospective bridegroom disconsolately. "There isn't an independent word to designate him. He is merely called the groom of the bride, as if he were just about on a level with the bridesmaids and a little below the maid of honor. Best man, of course, means the bridegroom's best man, but the phrase itself tends to exalt this individual at the expense of his superior.

"Then there's no adjective to describe what pertains to the male half of the affair. You can't speak of the 'bridegroomal' trousers or necktie. On the other hand, 'bridal' applies not only to the possessions of the girl, but to what relates to both of them equally, like the trip and the bridal chamber. The very words 'matrimony' and 'matrimonial' are from the feminine side only. 'Patrimony' has nothing to do with the nuptials. It applies only to wealth and signifies that a man's part in the affair is to get out and hustle for the cash."—Philadelphia Ledger.

How Standing Armies Originated.

The earliest European standing army was that of Macedonia, established about 358 B. C. by Philip, father of Alexander the Great. It was the second in the world's history, having been preceded only by that of Sesostris Pharaoh of Egypt, who organized a military caste about 1600 B. C. Of modern standing armies, that formed by the Turkish janizaries was first, being fully organized in 1362. It was a century later that the standing army of France, the earliest in western Europe was established by Charles VII. in the shape of "compagnies d'ordonnance," numbering 9,000 men. Rivalry thereupon compelled the nations to adopt similar means of defense. In England a standing army proper was first established by Cromwell, but was disbanded under Charles II., with the exception of a few regiments called the guards, or household brigade. This was the nucleus of England's present army.

The Modern Way.

One friend who has spent a long and useful life and looks good for another half century expects his reward in heaven and meantime is a philosopher. He can talk on any subject under the sun, from "the flower of poesy" to "the precession of the equinoxes." He apparently knows the "Iliad" and "Odyssey" by heart, so I knew that when he handed me a bit of verse it must be good.

"Here is a hymn on the solar system or some other lofty theme," thought I, placing the sheet in my letter case. When I arrived home I read:

The lizard climbed a wall. He climbed it once,
He climbed it twice—then crawled away.

The bee sipped a flower. He sipped it once,
He sipped it twice—then flew away.

The man kissed a maid. He kissed her once,
He kissed her twice—then walked away.

The wall wasn't sunny; the flower had no honey;
The maid had no money. Funny!

The problem now is whether the contribution is a joke or a gem.—National Magazine.

The Old Story

Long time ago, when the animals were getting their freedom suits news was sent around that every one was to come to the great man's castle to be fitted out. The squirrel invited the rabbit to go for a set of teeth, but he said wait. The cat ask him to go for claws, but the rabbit said there is plenty of time. But when the other animals came back with claws and teeth, he came to his senses, and made a run for the castle, only to find there was nothing to fit him, like some people of today who put off having their eyes properly fitted with glasses, when it costs them nothing to have them examined at
